

To Whom It May Concern:

In the course of ministering here and there, it's been my pleasure and privilege to meet a number of spiritual people, young and old, who are doing unique things to serve the Lord.

Tom Meyer is one of those unique people. What he is doing might not seem unique, but he has memorized long passages of Scripture, several small books of the Old Testament, and stands to give these in a dramatic manner, which is most engaging.

When one talks to Tom for a few minutes, one can see that he is an all-out Christian, and not looking for himself, but looking for how he might glorify the Lord.

I suggested that I present this letter to him, and invited him to use it. If you know much about Jews for Jesus, you know that we have used very creative approaches in evangelism. And though Tom might not be Jewish, let me say that he is the kind of creative person that not only fascinates us with the Word of God, but gains our admiration for the hard work that he has put into dramatizing it.

I don't hesitate to recommend him for a program in any group where you might feature him.

Most sincerely,

Moishe Rosen
